Eltis Henson to Address May Fellowship Meeting

Eltis Henson, principal of the Harrisburg Township high school, will discuss the topic "How do you form your opinion?" at the May Fellowship meeting to be held Friday evening at Wesley Center beginning with a potluck dinner at six o'clock.

This is being sponsored by the Harrisburg Council of Church Women as their observance of May Fellowship Day, a national event where thousands will explore the theme—"Who Forms Your Opinion."

Better human relations is the purpose of the day. May Fellowship Day is followed by Christian family week, May 6-13, the slogan for which is "God in the Home, Peace in the Earth."

The program is as follows: Prayer by John Yuhas, pastor of the General Baptist church; greetings, Miss Bess Pemberton; dinner; "The Church Woman" by Mrs. D. H. Miller; solo "If Christ Came Back," Mrs. Herman Davis; meditation "Finding God's Will," Mrs. G. C. Benson; solo "Friendship," Mrs. Davis; address "Who Forms Your Opinion," Eltis Henson; prayer in unison led by the chairman, Mrs. John Schwartz.

The church women, their husbands and friends are invited to participate and bring covered dishes for the potluck. Table service will be furnished.

Schedule of Tax Rates Payable For 1955 Listed

Maynard Cannon, county collector, today announced that tax statements for 1955 taxes payable in 1956 have been placed in the mails.

Real estate taxes may be paid in two installments—the first becoming delinquent June 1, the second Sept. 1. Personal property taxes become delinquent June 1.

Accompanying the tax statements are schedules of the 1955 tax rates payable this year. One may determine the rate he will pay on each $100 assessed valuation by doing a little adding.

All taxpayers pay the county rate, township rate, elementary school rate and high school rate—the latter three rates for their respective areas—and there is a fifth rate if one lives within the corporate limits of a city or village, which means inside Harrisburg, Carrier Mills, Eldorado, Stonefort, Galatia or Raleigh.

County Rate Lower

The county rate, which everybody pays, amounts to .463, which is 46.3 cents on each $100 assessed valuation. This is less than last year, when the figure was 48.6 cents.

Each of the 13 townships has different rates. All have a town rate, all except Long Branch and Cottage have relief rates, all have road and bridge rates, Tate, Galatia and Mountain have nickel township bridge rates, and all except Tate, Galatia and Stonefort have rates for improved road bonds which vary up to 15.5 cents.

In addition to these, some of the townships have other rates. For example, Harrisburg and Raleigh townships have a rate for the airport of 12 cents per $100 assessed value, Raleigh and Eldorado have

COLLECTOR DOES NOT DETERMINE TAX RATE

In reference to the staff of the County Collector's office, it is pointed out that County Treasurer and Collector Maynard Cannon does not determine the amount of taxes assessed against property. Levies are made by various taxing bodies such as townships, school boards, cities and villages, etc. Such rates as are needed to bring in the amount levied are determined by the assessed value of property. It is the duty of the Collector to collect the amount levied and shown on the tax books prepared by the County Clerk and delivered to the Collector.

a 10 cent assessment for the Eldorado-Raleigh park district and Harrisburg has a 3.3 cent rate for its township park. These are besides the six townships listed previously for city and village rates, which provide tax moneys for the operations of the cities and villages.

Harrisburg Rate

So if one wishes to determine just how much will be his particular rate he should add all the figures for the area in which he lives.

For example let us take a look at figures for property in the Harrisburg City Schools District 43 of Harrisburg township. Add all the county rates, which everybody

ICC Making Spot Checks of Truckers Here

Twenty field investigators from the Illinois Commerce Commission are in Harrisburg today and tomorrow making a spot check of truckers for compliance with the Illinois Motor Carrier of Property act, which went into effect Jan. 1, 1954.

The act supervises and regulates the business of transporting property "for hire" by motor vehicles upon and over the state highways, and the registration of interstate carriers.

Investigators are setting up a road block in cooperation with the State Police at the intersections of Illinois State Routes 13 and 45. Spot checks will also be made for compliance at the loading docks in the Harrisburg area.

The field investigators are checking for motor carriers doing business without authority under the law; those operating with authority but whose equipment is without the proper identification marks as required by the law; and those operating without required franchise plates.

Each unit operated in Illinois is required to have Illinois Commerce Commission identification lettered on the side of each unit, in letters not less than two inches high and of a contrasting color with the rest of the unit.

Truckers found operating in violation of the act, will be given 15 day Warning Notices to comply with the statutes or risk suspension, revocation or cancellation of their authority.

While here, the investigators also are working to educate the trucking industry to another change in the law, passed the last session of the state legislature and slated to become effective July 1, 1956.

After that date each carrier must have photostatic copies of its certificate, permit, or registration in the power unit of each vehicle while it is being operated. Failure to have the copy will subject the carrier to a fine of not less than $40 for the first offense, $100 for the second offense and $200 for the third offense.

Besides survivors listed in yesterday's Register he leaves two stepchildren, Herman Jones, Hammond, Ind., and Selma Brantley, Pontiac, Mich.; and five step grandchildren.

The body lies in state at the Gibbons funeral home.

Find Four Stolen Parking Meters, Battered, Robbed

Four parking meters taken up on Jackson and Church streets and stolen were found battered, useless and robbed.

They were spotted by Arthur Kielhorn, NYC employee who was on a train on the railroad spur east of town. He notified police, who went after them.

They were found near the tracks about 400 feet east of the Lover's Lane road, between the Muggle-Hall premises and Route 13. There was evidence they had been broken up on the track rails.

All the money was gone except two cents found in one of the containers.

One meter was found near Jackson and Church the day after the meters were stolen. It had not been robbed.

Speed Limit Zone

Something new has been added to U. S. Route 45 between Harrisburg and Eldorado.

Put into effect Tuesday was a speed limit zone for the stretch of the highway alongside Muddy.

The state department of public safety installed the zone, which calls for a speed limit of 45 miles an hour from Foster's to the Venice curve.

Oxidizer Fails to Trigger Rocket Motor, Test Fizzles at 10,000 Feet

WHITE SANDS PROVING GROUNDS, N. M. — The failure of an oxidizer to trigger the powerful motor of the Navy's Aerobee-HI rocket was blamed today for the rocket's failure to blast 18 miles into the ionosphere. Instead, it fizzled out at 10,000 feet and crashed to earth.

Navy officers said privately that they were bitterly disappointed by the fiasco, which followed a big advance buildup.

The occasion was a test late Wednesday at which the first production model of the Aerobee was fired at White Sands. The test had been put off once because of high winds.

The Navy will try again Tuesday. Three more tests are scheduled here and another one is planned at Fort Churchill, along Hudson's Bay in Canada.

When the rocket was fired Wednesday it climbed to about 10,000 feet—being powered by a booster that functioned like jet-assisted takeoff JATO for aircraft. The rocket started at a 142-foot tower.

But the big engine never got a chance to perform. When the booster fell away, the rocket came down.

It tore a hole 15 feet across and 10 feet deep in the hard desert and sent a tower of dirty orange smoke high into the air.

Chief Gunner's Mate A. D. Deaver, in charge of the project, said the disappointing showing was caused by an "oxidizer cut off."

The Navy had hoped to use the rocket to gather information in the ionosphere for the International Geophysical Year in 1957 and 1958.

Hammarskjold Reports Success In Obtaining Mid-East Cease Fire

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold today reported success in obtaining a ceasefire among Israel and her four Arab neighbors.

He said the agreements were unconditional except for each nation's reservation as to the right of self-defense.

In a preliminary report to the United Nations Security Council, Hammarskjold said his negotiations with Israel and her Arab neighbors for a cease fire along their strife-torn borders "have in all cases been concluded with positive results."

"The cease fire I have aimed at under my mandate from the Security Council," Hammarskjold reported, "is one governed by a reaffirmation by the governments, given to the U. N., to comply unconditionally with the fundamental clause of the various armistice agreements and establishes anew the legal situation on which the armistice regime was to be founded."

Only Minor Reductions in Ike's Program

Air Force Gets Biggest Share With $15.5 Billion

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—The House Appropriations Committee today approved with only "minor reductions" President Eisenhower's new $33,600,000,000 defense budget. The committee called it generally adequate but not big enough to keep ahead of Russia's growing airpower.

The bill approved by the committee would appropriate about a half-billion less than the President requested. The committee said the bill would support total defense outlays of about $35,900,000,000 in fiscal 1957 increasing the strength of all three services.

The committee said the new military budget is geared to new weapons, increased air power and greater emphasis on research. All told, more than $5,500,000,000 will be spent on military research and development.

Air Force Gets Most

As usual, the Air Force got the biggest share, a total of $15,400,000,000, compared to $14,700,000,000 this year. The President asked for $15,600,000,000. The committee said its cuts won't interfere with expansion as planned.

The Navy got $9,900,000,000, compared with $9,100,000,000 this year. The President asked for $10,000,000,000.

The Navy's share will provide an active fleet expanded from 885 to 1,005 ships, with 23 new ships to be built. Construction will include 13 guided missile ships, one of them atom-powered, six atomic submarines and advance work for a nuclear-powered carrier.

The Army got just under $7,500,000,000, compared with $7,300,000,000 this year.

About half the total cut proposed by the committee amounted to a bookkeeping saving. The Army wanted $228,000,000 to substitute for marks it had planned to spend in Germany but which it said it might not get from the German government. The committee said maybe the marks still will be forthcoming and denied the request.

NATION MOURNS FOR "VEEP"—The flag atop the Senate Office Building is lowered to half staff following the death of Sen. Alben Barkley of Kentucky. The famed "Veep" of the Truman administration collapsed and died while addressing a mock convention at Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Va. (NEA Telephoto)

Hometown People, Family Bid Mournful Farewell to Barkley

PADUCAH, Ky. — The hometown people and the family he loved bid a mournful farewell to Sen. Alben W. Barkley today in the simple but moving funeral rites of his faith.

Seated behind Mrs. Barkley and other members of the family in Broadway Methodist Church were former President Harry S. Truman; Governors Averell Harriman of New York and A. B. Chandler of Kentucky; former Illinois Gov.

Adlai E. Stevenson; and more than a score of United States senators, including Estes Kefauver of Tennessee and Lyndon Johnson of Texas.

They and hundreds of the former vice president's old friends gathered in the church and in the street outside and heard the Rev. William S. Evans say "There was something inherent in his life that makes all want to do him honor."

The minister said in a brief funeral sermon, "Across his beloved state and throughout the nation and the world, men have loved him, respected his integrity, followed his counsel, and have been enriched by his personality."

An estimated 1,500 persons overflowed the church auditorium and Sunday school rooms. Another throng heard the service over loudspeakers outside.

For 2½ hours before the church service, the body lay in state at a funeral chapel three blocks away. Attendees estimated more than 4,000 persons filed past the rose-draped casket.

A funeral train brought the "Veep" back for burial in the Kentucky soil he loved so well. First off the train was Mrs. Barkley. She was greeted by several members of the senator's family, including his son, David.

Junior High Test On Constitution Is Plenty Tough

DO YOU KNOW as much as your child or your neighbor's child—about the United States Constitution, that is?

Eighth graders at Harrisburg Junior high school, along with eighth graders, high school seniors and tax-supported colleges throughout the nation, take required tests on the Constitution. Of course, the higher you go up the ladder of education, the tougher the test.

But don't think that the eighth grade test is easy, just because grade school kids take it.

I have before me the test given at Junior high school, and I'll admit right here and now that there are plenty of questions I cannot answer. Here are some of the questions:

Which one of these men was not present at the Constitution Convention — Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Franklin?

The last of the 13 states to ratify the Constitution was ... ? A woman may be elected President of the United States. True or false?

A man born in Germany and later naturalized may be elected President of the United States. True or false?

A man born in Germany and later naturalized may be elected Senator. True or false?

All post offices belong to the United States government. True or false?

What college has no buildings, no teachers, no students, not even a basketball team?

Write the Preamble to the Constitution of the United States.

Illinois has had three state Constitutions. Choose the correct three—1818, 1848, 1870, 1890.

Woman Who Raised 75 Homeless Girls, Boys, Named American Mother of Year

DETROIT (U.P.)—Mrs. Jane Maxwell Pritchard pointed to framed copies of two poems hanging on her living room wall today as the reasons behind her being named American mother of 1956.

One was entitled "Faith," the other "Courage."

The 65-year-old widow, who loves poetry almost as much as children, said she wasn't looking for any personal gain in rearing some 75 homeless girls and boys.

"I never dreamed I would get this honor," she said. "When I raised those children I didn't do it because there was any possible glory in it for me."

To Be Guest

Mrs. Pritchard was chosen the outstanding mother of the year by the American Mothers Committee in New York. She said she planned to fly Sunday to New York where she will be guest of honor at the annual mothers conference the following day.

In an interview with the United Press, Mrs. Pritchard retraced a life marked by hardship and sacrifice, yet filled with "the finer things in life, namely children."

A native of Youngstown, Ohio, she was only 10 when her mother became ill and she took over all her family's household duties. At 19, she married machinist Benjamin Pritchard.

The Pritchards lost their first baby. They began adopting children when they were told they could have none of their own.

Shortly after adopting two girls back in the World War I period, the Pritchards had their only child, Dale, now 38. Next to be adopted by the Pritchards were five children of a dying mother.

Keeps Family Together

Mrs. Daniel A. Poling, president of the American Mothers Committee, said that Mrs. Pritchard kept her "family" together after the death of her husband in 1947 thru a philosophy of mutual help, affection, work, study, prayer and play.

All told, Mrs. Pritchard estimates she has cared for at least 75 foster children. Seventeen girls, ranging in age from 9 to 24, now call her three-story mansion home. Victims of broken homes, the girls were turned over to her by Juvenile Court.

story of how Russia is overtaking us in air power has been unfolding behind the closed doors of the special Senate Air committee,

So far the details of the story have been kept secret, but a battle is developing between Secretary of Defense Wilson who wants to continue keeping them secret and Senators Symington and Jackson of Washington to remove the stamp of secrecy.

Meanwhile this column has obtained complete details of our lag behind Russia. Security experts in the Pentagon have been consulted as to how much can be revealed, and the following facts are only part of the story. But even this part is a shocking reve-lution of our lag in air power.

RUSSIA'S JET ADVANCE
1. The Red Air Force has already outstripped us in building fast, modern jet planes. Russia has 12,500 jets assigned to combat units. We have only 9,000 jets ready to fight.

2. Soviet engineers have developed more powerful jet engines than our own. The engines that push Russia's intercontinental jet bomber, the Bison, produce an estimated 16,000 to 18,000 pounds of thrust. The J-57 engines powering our B-52 long-range bomber put out only 10,000 thrust pounds each.

3. At the scheduled rates of production, the Red Air Force will completely outclass the U. S. Air Force in jet power in another two years. Our aircraft procurement schedules call for 2,500 new planes in the fiscal year 1955; only 2,000 in 1957. This will be a heavy loss each year by attrition. Air Force strategists are convinced that U. S. air procurement must be nearly doubled to keep up with the Soviets.

USA VS. USSR
The experts have projected present Soviet production schedules into the future, and figure that the relative strength of the USA and USSR will be as follows in 1958.

The USA will have 250 giant jet B-52s; USSR will have 500, or twice as many Bisons.

USA will have 1,800 B-47 fast medium bombers; USSR will have slightly less or about 1,000 equivalent Badgers.

USA will have 300 B-57 light jet bombers; USSR will have 4,000
Soviet light jet butchers.

USA will have 3,000 subsonic
F-86 fighters; USSR will have 8,000 comparable Red MIG-15 fighters.

USA will have 1,000 transonic
F-100s; USSR will have 8,000 Soviet transonic MIG-17s.

USA will have 500 supersonic
F-101s; USSR will have 4,500 super-sonic Soviet Farmers.

USA will have 700 F-93 all-weather interceptors; USSR will have 4,000 Soviet Flashlights of the same kind.

That is the shocking comparison of future American-Russian air strength as compiled by the experts and as it's being unfolded behind the closed doors of the special Senate Air Committee.

OLD-AGE PENSIONS
Two venerable southern senators who usually agree with each other are squaring off for a battle over old-age pensions and increased social security. They are: Harry Byrd of Virginia and Walter
George of Georgia, both Democrats and both members of the Senate Finance committee.

Byrd, who is chairman of that committee, is vigorously supporting the Eisenhower administration
on pensions and social security.
They oppose a new legislation which would permit women to get pensions at the age of 62 rather than 65; would also permit totally disabled to begin drawing pensions at 50. This would add 1-000,000 more to the pension rolls and increase the tax cost somewhat.

Already there has been a tough debate inside the Finance committee over making public the names of senators voting for and against this bill.

The fight will continue on the Senate floor with the venerable George, who usually sides with his friend Byrd and frequently supports Eisenhower, leading the battle for more pension benefits.
Most Republicans will side with
Byrd and the administration.
However, there will be enough Democratic votes to pass it. The bill has already passed the House
by an overwhelming margin — enough to override a presidential veto.

MERRY-GO-ROUND
Adlai Stevenson may be privately burning, but he doesn't lose his composure. Greeting guests at a Washington reception, Adlai shook hands with Socialist Virginia Carmichael, with long, tapering cigarette holder. She turned to talk to another guest. Her king-size holder and burning cigarette pressed against Stevenson's arm. He winced: said nothing. On bulletin board of House office building:
"Wanted: — Beautiful young secretary to volunteer for saving woman-in-half performance at Congressional Secretaries' Club big free magic show at Library of Congress. Magician urgently needs volunteer due to slight mishap to his regular assistant."

Grape, Washington's fashionable jeweler who sold Harry Truman his $80 gold and black garters, now has a gadget which like it will be sending to Ike — a gold wrist watch. It clocks the score as you go round the course
... It took persuasive phone calls from both Gen. Lucius Clay, head of Continental Can, and Mrs.
Oveta Culp Hobby, former member of the cabinet, to induce Mrs.
Dorothy Houghton to become head of the Women's Division of the Citizens for Eisenhower committee. Mrs. Houghton likes Ike, but likes her husband better. She didn't want to leave Red Oak, Iowa, to take the job. After Mrs.
Hobby got on the phone and used her charm with Mrs. Houghton, Mrs. Houghton consented. The new women's director of Citizens for Ike helped pioneer the Friendship-Freedom balloons when she was head of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. The balloons have been bringing howls of anguish from behind the Iron Curtain.

OLD-AGE PENSIONS
Two venerable southern senators
who usually agree with each other
are squaring off for a battle over
old-age pensions and increased social security. They are: Harry
Byrd of Virginia and Walter
George of Georgia, both Democrats and both members of the Senate Finance committee.

Byrd, who is chairman of that
committee, is vigorously supporting the Eisenhower administration
on pensions and social security.
They oppose a new legislation
which would permit women to get pensions at the age of 62 rather than 65; would also permit totally disabled to begin drawing pensions at 50. This would add 1-000,000 more to the pension rolls
and increase the tax cost somewhat.

Already there has been a tough
debate inside the Finance committee over making public the names of senators voting for and against this bill.

The fight will continue on the Senate floor with the venerable
George, who usually sides with
his friend Byrd and frequently supports Eisenhower, leading the battle for more pension benefits.
Most Republicans will side with
Byrd and the administration.
However, there will be enough Democratic votes to pass it. The bill has already passed the House
by an overwhelming margin —
enough to override a presidential veto.

Bar Ass'n Reaffirms Policy of Defense For All Accused

SPRINGFIELD — The board of governors of the Illinois Bar Assn.
today reaffirmed the IBA policy of providing defense counsel for all needy accused persons, including Communists.

The board Wednesday adopted a resolution upholding the "ancient right to a fair jury trial" for all persons. The resolution was offered in reply to a recent public statement by Asst. U. S. Atty. Gen.
William F. Tompkins, chief of the Justice Department internal security division.

Tompkins said the practice of bar associations in providing lists of lawyers from which judges selected defense counsel for needy accused persons, including Communists, made the associations
"dupes" of the Communists.

He said the practice aided the Communists by "providing respectable people" to discredit the Smith Act against communism.

The board's resolution pledged continued aid to all persons who cannot hire defense lawyers, including Communists.

But the resolution said the association should continue to seek disbarment of any lawyer who advocates communism.

The board also adopted a report of its committee on public service calling for establishment of legal aid facilities throughout Illinois.

Railway Express Asks Rate Increase

SPRINGFIELD — Railway Express Agency Inc. today asked the Illinois Commerce Commission for a 7.5 per cent increase in express rates on drugs, hosiery, medicines, shoes, toilet preparations, wearing apparel and other merchandise.

The company asked that the new rates be made effective June 11. A similar petition has been filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission.

In a letter accompanying its petition, the company said the increases were needed because of increased labor, supplies and materials costs.

Jilted Woman Crushes Boy Friend To Death Under Wheels of Her Auto

NEW ORLEANS (UP) — A jilted woman crushed her boy friend to death Wednesday beneath the wheels of a car because, she said, "God and I are tired of men taking advantage of women."

Beatrice P. Adams, an attractive 33-year-old stenographer, fatally injured Max Jernigan, a 300-pound automobile salesman, and was booked tentatively on charges of attempted murder.

She did the job in the presence of another car salesman who leaped beside the moving car to rip out wires and finally bring the death vehicle to a halt.

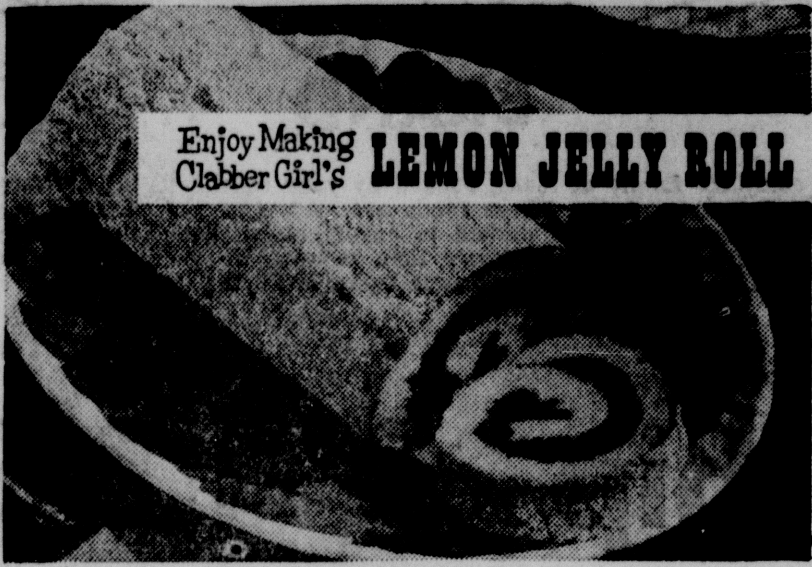

"It was the most cold-blooded exhibition I've ever seen," the salesman, Jack Holland, said.

Jernigan died early today from injuries that included fractures of the left leg and both arms and a crushed right leg.

"I feel no remorse over having killed him," Miss Adams said. "I do it again. God and I are tired of men taking advantage of women."

Enjoy Making Clabber Girl's LEMON JELLY ROLL

Use only 3 eggs in this recipe since with Clabber Girl Baking Powder it will be as light and fluffy as with many more eggs. Choose your own filling, if you wish, instead of grape or apple jelly. There's no substitute, here, for your own baking skill.

LEMON JELLY ROLL Yield: 6 to 8 servings

1 cup sifted cake flour
1 1/2 teaspoons Clabber Girl Baking Powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
3 eggs
1 cup beet or cane sugar

1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1/4 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup hot water
Confectioners sugar
1 7-ounce jar grape or apple jelly

Sift together flour, baking powder, and salt. Beat eggs in a bowl set in a larger bowl of warm water until light and lemon colored (about 10 minutes). Add sugar gradually, beating continually. Add lemon rind and vanilla. Fold in dry ingredients, a few tablespoons at a time. Add the hot water in a thin but steady stream, folding in. Pour into jelly roll pan, 10 x 15 inches, lined with greased, waxed paper. Bake at 375° F. (moderate oven) for 12 to 15 minutes. Cut crusty edges from cake; turn cake upside down on a clean towel sprinkled with confectioners sugar. Pull off paper, roll cake in towel and cool. Unroll, spread with jelly and re-roll. Sprinkle surface with confectioners sugar.

Remember... it's the fresh ingredients in your home baked recipe that make things taste better; stay fresh longer!

House Begins Voting on New Farm Measure

By United Press

The House began voting on the new Democratic farm bill today by shouting approval of a price support bill for growers of four feed grains.

Members also voted for a provision backing up the administration's unprecedented action in extending price supports this year to commercial corn growers who overplant their allotments.

The initial votes were part of a compromise plan worked out by Democratic and Republican farm leaders to ward off a floor fight on price supports.

Biggest clash loomed over the administration's request for authority to make advance payments this year under the Republican sponsored $1,200,000,000 soil bank program which is the heart of the new bill.

In the initial voting, the House approved a provision to raise support prices 16 per cent this year for producers of oats, barley, rye and grain sorghums who voluntarily put surplus-producing acres into the soil bank.

Original fund for the Nobel prizes was $9,000,000, with the prize money to come from the interest on the principal.

Kentucky to Boost Load Limits for Road to Bridge

The Daily Register today was informed that the load limit on the Kentucky highway between the Ohio river bridge at Shawneetown and Morganfield, Ky., will be 50,000 pounds as soon as the road is resurfaced.

Previously, there had been no announcement on the load limit to the Kentucky approach to the bridge, which indicated to heavy trucks it might be as low as 10,000 pounds.

The letter to The Daily Register from J. A. Spears, director of the division of Maintenance, Department of Highways, Commonwealth of Kentucky, stated:

"The legislature of Kentucky has recently passed a bill increasing the load limit on certain roads in Kentucky from 40,000 to 50,000 pounds.

Immediately after this bill was passed, we set up for resurfacing the road between Morganfield and the Ohio river bridge at Shawneetown, Illinois.

"The contract was let April 20 and the project should be completed by mid-summer. At that time, this road will be posted for the new load limit of 50,000 pounds.

Oliver Rollins Studies Offer to Tour Europe with Harlem Globetrotters

Receives Telegram From Saperstein, Owner of Pro Club

From high school basketball to the world renowned Harlem Globetrotters in one step is the possibility being held out to Oliver "Big Cat" Rollins of Carrier Mills.

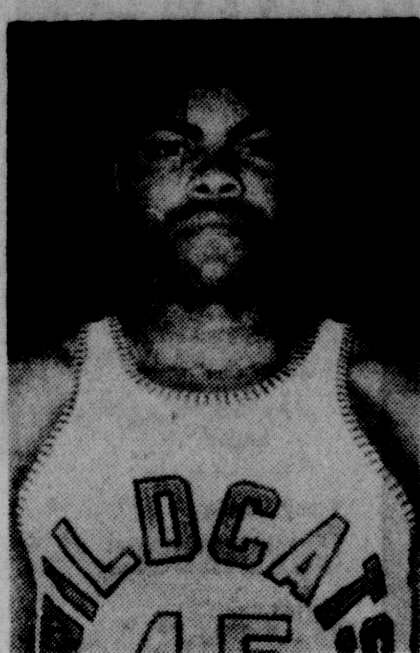

Rollins, who rewrote the record books for Carrier Mills as he shattered defenses of schools throughout southern Illinois over a four-year period, has received an offer to report to the Globetrotters and make their 1956 European tour.

Wednesday evening Rollins received a telegram from Abe Saperstein, owner of the Globetrotters, making him a firm offer to join the best known basketball organization in the world.

The telegram reveals that Inman Jackson, former player and now a coach and scout for the Trotters, has seen Rollins in action and is satisfied the Carrier Mills youth has a real chance to make the grade.

Telegram from Saperstein

The telegram goes on to say "Jackson suggested that I take you on summer tour for immediate development. Had my personnel picked entirely but might be able to handle man. Leaving from New York May 15 for three and half months in 21 countries throughout Europe. Trip of a lifetime to all boys. Financial aspects complete. Transportation plus five dollars daily meal money plus hotel accommodations plus 75 dollars weekly expense money which could be divided 50 to your family and 25 to yourself. This is greatest opportunity ever offered any high school boy. Suggest complete discussion your family and coaches and telephone me. . . . countless problems passports, shots etc are needed. My phone number

Oliver Rollins

Dearborn 22427. Abe Saperstein."

Rollins, who had been eyeing a college career, is weighing the Globetrotter offer against a college education and basketball. It's a tough decision and he hasn't made up his mind.

Rollins completed a great high school career with the final game of the regional tournament early in March.

Great Scorer

During his four years Rollins scored more than 2,400 points and during the campaign just closed hit the nets for a total of 828 points.

Breaking into the lineup during the second half of the first game on the schedule his freshman year Rollins held down the center spot from then on. He was a great scorer under the basket, more than adequate from the outside, and could rebound with anyone he played against.

And he didn't get his points easy, as many a coach came up with a defense that called for three players to devote their defensive efforts toward Rollins and it was just accepted that not less than two would try to hold him to a respectable number of markers.

A big man, standing 6-3 and weighing about 225 pounds, Rollins is quick with his hands and can move down court in a hurry.

His best individual scoring was marked against a good Sesser team during the 1954-55 season. On this night he scored 32 points. In his next game, against McLeansboro, Rollins had 47, making a total of 99 points in two games.

He holds the scoring record for the Saline County tournament. The first year of the tourney, when Rollins was a sophomore, the record was established by Duane and Orto of Galatia at 33 points.

Faces Greatest Challenge

The following year Rollins scored 37 in one game and then in the 1955 tourney he came up with a 48 point total in one game.

He has had a great high school career and before that was a great performer in grade school, leading Dunbar of Carrier Mills to many a victory.

Now Rollins faces the greatest challenge, making the grade with the Harlem Globetrotters, if he decides to cast his lot with them.

Most of the fans who have watched him believe he can make the grade—and he has the best wishes of sports fans every where.

If he accepts the chance to play with the Trotters it's a great opportunity, "the greatest professional opportunity ever offered a high school basketball player," in the words of Abe Saperstein.

Rigney Directs Giants to 6-5, 17-Inning, Marathon Victory Over Chicago Cubs

By United Press

Bill Rigney was hired to replace Leo Durocher as manager of the New York Giants but it looks like he's out to replace Casey Stengel as the "master manipulator of the major leagues."

Rigney, who's a rookie pilot and therefore figures to improve with experience, did a job even Stengel would have been proud of Wednesday in guiding the Giants to a 6-5, 17-inning marathon victory over the Chicago Cubs. When it was all over, there were two new major league records set, one new National League mark and still another NL mark equalled.

The 25 players used by Rigney wiped out the old record of 24 players used by one team in a game. Manager Stan Hack threw 23 Cubs into the fray, thereby enabling the two teams to set another mark of 48 players employed.

In addition, Rigney tied a National League mark by using eight pitchers and Cub third-baseman Don Hoak earned the dubious distinction of setting still another mark by striking out six times. The five-hour and 13-minute contest fell just short of the major league mark of 5:19—set in a 20-inning struggle between Boston and Brooklyn in 1940.

Spencer is Hero

Hero of the weird battle was second-baseman Daryl Spencer, who blasted a homer, triple and two singles in the "early innings" and finally sent the 2,389 fans home to their cold supper by delivering a sacrifice fly with the bases filled and one out in the 17th. Al Dark doubled with one out to start the rally and Willie Mays and Dusty Rhodes were walked to set up a chance for an inning-ending double play.

Rookie Joe Margoneri, seventh New York pitcher, got credit for the win although he gave way to Ruben Gomez in the 17th when he yielded a double to Clyde McCullough with two out and worked the count to 2-1 on Hoak. The count mounted to 3-2 before Gomez fanned Hoak for the last out. The victory was the third in a row for the Giants and the loss the seventh straight for the Cubs.

The Cincinnati Redlegs, continuing a slugging binge in which they've hit 27 homers in 13 games this season, walloped five Wednesday night to jolt the Brooklyn

Hank Sauer Suffers Injury

ST. LOUIS 10.—St. Louis Cardinals outfielder Hank Sauer was hospitalized "for several days" today with a severe concussion and lacerations which required a total of 62 stitches.

The big slugger, playing his first season with the Cardinals, was hit on the left ear and mouth Wednesday night in pre-game batting practice.

Catcher Walker Cooper had followed Sauer into the batting cage, and the bat slipped from his hands on his first swing.

Sauer required some 15 stitches in emergency before x-rays could be taken. At Jewish hospital, another 47 stitches were taken in his badly lacerated ear and upper lip.

The 182nd infantry regiment of Massachusetts is the oldest unit in the Army national guard.

Dodgers, 10-6. It was the sixth straight win for the Redlegs and the fourth straight defeat for the stumbling world champions.

Bell Hits Pair

Gus Bell hit a pair of two-run homers to lead Cincinnati's attack and Wally Post, George Crowe and Ray Joblonski also homered. It was No. 8 for Post who leads both majors and has hit six in his last five games. Duke Snider, Roy Campanella and Sandy Amoros homered for the Dodgers.

A total of 41 players saw action as the St. Louis Cardinals beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 10-9, in a 10-inning night game. Alex Grammas' safe bunt squeezed across the winning run in the last of the 10th. Stan Musial hit his second grand slam of the season for the Redbirds, who went back into first place.

Frank Lary's three-hitter led the Detroit Tigers to an 8-1 decision over the New York Yankees and Tom Brewer turned in a three-hitter as the Boston Red Sox defeated the Kansas City Athletics, 2-0, in the only American league games.

Al Kaline, Harvey Kuenn and Bill Tuttle had three hits each to lead the Tigers' 15-hit attack on three New York pitchers. Mickey Mantle hit his sixth homer.

Jackie Jensen singled home the Red Sox' first run in the first inning and Mickey Vernon doubled home another in the fifth.

Five from HTHS Attend Student Council Meeting

The twenty-second annual convention of the Illinois Association of Student Councils was held April 27 and 28 at Hotel Sherman in Chicago, Ill.

Attending from Harrisburg Township High school were Charles Cummins, Bryan Jones, Judy Franks, Avah Phillips and the sponsor H. B. Bauman.

The theme of the convention was "Make the Right Popular." Hosts were members of the Danville high school, Danville, Ill.

During the conference problem solving groups discussed the following items: (1) How to conduct a Student Council meeting; (2) how can the Student Council secure better cooperation among faculty, students and administration; (3) what are some new Student Council projects; (4) how can the Student Council best interpret youth to a skeptical and oftentimes critical public; and (5) what can the Student Council do for the so-called anti-social students?

Guest speakers were Sydney J. Harris, columnist for the Chicago Daily News; George E. Mathes, director of Student Activities, Denver public schools, Denver, Colo., and a student, Joe Anthony, of the Notre Dame high school at Quincy.

New state officers were elected Saturday and installed in an afternoon session prior to the adjournment.

Ray Eliot is Well Pleased with Progress in Spring Football Drills

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — Illinois Coach Ray Eliot said today he was pleased over the progress shown by his gridders as they neared the end of spring football practice.

"We should be an improved ball club next fall," Eliot said. "We've accomplished most of our goals in our 20 days of drills."

The Illini mentor thinks the quarterback and end positions make up the biggest problem going into the 1956 season.

"I believe Hiles Stout should rank as the No. 1 quarterback," he said. "He's shown major progress this spring. He'll be backed by Chuck Schrader, Tom Haller, and Bill Offenbecher."

Eliot painted a cheerful picture of a much bigger, stronger and deeper line in 1956 than the Illini boasted last year. The smallest of Eliot's giant tackles is letterman Dick Nordmeyer of Tucson, Ariz., standing 6-1 and weighing 208 pounds.

Outside of quarterback, Illinois should have an exceptionally strong backfield, according to Eliot. The coach has high hopes for his two whirlwind halfbacks, Bob Mitchell, a sensation late in the last season, and veteran Harry Jefferson.

The biggest battle for a starting role is expected to be at fullback between Ray Nitschke, last year's regular, and freshman Jack Delveaux.

"With Ron Hanson out, at ends we're very thin," Eliot worried. Hanson broke his ankle early in

Six Schools Are Jolted by NCAA Penalties

NEW ORLEANS — Reaction from officials of schools jolted by some of the stiffest penalties ever handed out by the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. ranged today from surprised shock and amazement at the severity of the punishment to possible appeals.

In all, six schools were blasted by the NCAA policy — directing council for rule violations, with Auburn, Florida and Louisville drawing on Wednesday the stiffest penalties ever imposed for violations of which they were found guilty. Texas A&M, Little Mississippi College and Kansas were penalized Tuesday.

The council lowered the boom on Auburn. The Alabama school was placed on three years probation, the longest term ever handed out, because an assistant coach gave twin brothers Harry and Robert Beabe $500 each to enroll at the school.

Florida was given a two-year probation and its athletic teams barred from competition in NCAA and invitational events for "offering prospective student-athletes financial aid in excess of that permitted by the association, including illegal transportation to home and back."

Louisville's basketball team was placed on probation for two years and ruled ineligible to participate in NCAA and invitational events. Louisville was accused of offering excessive aid to two basketball players and with providing them with illegal transportation.

Some of the more promising freshmen candidates along with Delveaux are Dale Smith, a halfback from Georgetown, Ill.; Ed Sabel, center from Chicago; Tusi Taualii, guard from Sterling, Ill.; Ron Nietupski, tackle from Chicago, and Larry Stewart, end from Galesburg.

B47 Crashes; Four are Killed

LINCOLN, Neb. — The Air Force today clamped tight security measures around the site of a B47 Stratofort crash that killed the crew of four, the second such crash in a month.

The bomber was assigned to the Lincoln Air Force Base, as was the Stratofort that crashed earlier. The bomber crashed three miles northwest of the base Wednesday night. The earlier crash occurred 12 miles north of the base, also taking four lives.

Victims of Wednesday night's crash were identified as Capt. Marion A. Perdue, San Antonio, Tex.; Capt. Charles H. Stoness, Maricopa, Calif.; S. Sgt. William F. Reckhoff, Fellows, Calif. The fourth victim, the co-pilot, was not immediately identified.

Harrisburg Ties for Sixth as Mt. Vernon Wins Junior High Meet

Mt. Vernon won the annual Harrisburg Junior high school invitational track and field meet held yesterday afternoon at Taylor Field, accumulating 33 points to 30 1/2 for second place Centralia.

Harrisburg, with 11 points, tied for sixth among the dozen schools present.

Behind Centralia were Marion with 22 1/2, Sesser with 22, Christopher with 15, Harrisburg and Cairo with 11, Benton with 10 1/2, Ridgway with 10, Fairfield with 8 1/2, Carrier Mills with 3 and Norris City, which was scoreless.

Only first place by Harrisburg was in the pole vault, where Ledford and four others tied for first with a vault of eight feet. Another possible first was missed in the hurdle finals when Conrad fell going over the first hurdle. Conrad had broken the meet record with 15.8 in winning his heat.

One accident marred the meet. Young Roger Aldridge, Harrisburg half miler, made a strong stretch run and attempted to pass a man on the inside. In doing so he fell into the jagged infield fence and suffered three or four bad lacerations to the upper part of his left arm. He was moved by ambulance to a hospital for treatment.

The Junior high school regional track meet will be held here May 9.

Buford Defies Eviction Notice

MOUNT VERNON, Ill. — Mayor O. R. Buford defied an eviction notice from the City Council today and said he'll refuse to move his vacuum cleaner business out of City Hall for at least 90 days.

A policeman served an eviction notice on Buford Wednesday as a result of a council order March 27. Four councilmen voted to evict Buford for non-payment of rent, Buford casting the lone dissenting vote.

Buford said today, however, that he intends to keep his business in City Hall until a new building to house it is completed, which will take about 90 days.

"It's spring and the council is having some fun," he commented. City Attorney Alvin Williams said the council will have to decide whether to take any further legal steps and may do so when it meets Monday.

The four councilmen charged Buford owes $960 in back rent for eight months. Buford said the city should refund him $35 a month, because the council will not assign him a mayor's office in the hall.

A PLEASANT CALLER at the office of The Daily Register yesterday was Mrs. George Churlik, who lives with her husband on a farm at Mitchellville.

During the past lots of arrows and other Indian objects have been found on the farm but one day last month Mrs. Churlik found the prize. She brought with her this object, a perfectly formed Indian tomahawk. She found the stone in the field, at a place where erosion had made a gulley. It is one of the best formed tomahawk stones Timmo has ever seen.

Lawyer Denies Using 'Influence' As Nixon Manager

WASHINGTON — Murray M. Chotiner swore today he never used his "influence" as Vice President Richard M. Nixon's 1952 campaign manager on behalf of two blacklisted uniform makers. Chotiner, a Beverly Hills, Calif., lawyer, confirmed in testimony before the Senate investigating subcommittee that he talked with the Justice Department about dropping a false statement charge against uniform maker Herman Kravitz.

He said he was also employed by another uniform contractor, Joseph Joey Abrams, who was under income tax investigation and had a $30,000 claim against the government.

But Chotiner said, "At no time did I talk with anyone or endeavor to use any influence in the Justice Department or any other department" in behalf of his clients.

Refuse to Delay Connelly, Caudle Trial

WASHINGTON — Murray Earl Warren Wednesday refused to delay the conspiracy trial of two Truman administration officials—Matthew J. Connelly and T. Lamar Caudle.

Connelly, who was Mr. Truman's appointment secretary, and Caudle, former head of the Justice Department's tax division, are scheduled to go on trial in St. Louis Monday on charges of conspiring to defraud the government on tax matters.

Wis.) said Chotiner apparently merely performed the usual service for his clients and did nothing improper. McCarthy opened the hearing with a statement that legal ethics require an attorney "to give any man a defense, regardless of how you feel about it."

Chotiner agreed. He also said he never discussed his clients with Nixon, and he was "quite sure the vice president had no knowledge of his cases."

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.
Written for NEA Service

A mirror reflects a pretty good picture of ourselves. Do we like what we see in the silvered glass? We like a smile, a clean skin, a clear complexion, a soft wave in the hair and sparkling eyes. We drop our eyes if the face we see is scowling or if the lines in the brow are deep or if the eyes are sunken from dissipation.

The reflection shows not only the basic features with which we are endowed, but also the punishment we have inflicted on this living gift from God.

It is human error that is guilty of the misdirecting of our efforts, of the shriveling of our souls, of the crippling of character, of the sculpturing of facial lines and of the erasing of happy smiles. We alter our faces when we take things out of the hands of the original Maker and forget the basic simple rules of life.

Hate and suspicion, gossip and criticism, sniping and nastiness, accusation and distrust are only a few of the things that make us grotesque and make us want to hide from ourselves and from God. The correction of our images in the mirror results by substituting good human qualities for negative influences.

Love and friendship, appreciation and worship, kindness and care, honesty and consideration—these are some of the simple things which make the mirror a satisfactory place in which to look.

Illinois Allotted Gamma Globulin to Combat Measles

SPRINGFIELD — Illinois has been allotted 200,000 cubic centimeters of gamma globulin to fight a measles epidemic, State Public Health Director Dr. Roland R. Cross said today.

The gamma globulin was allocated by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis from a supply originally allocated to Milwaukee.

Cross said the gamma globulin was not available to the state health department from any other source.

The number of measles cases in Illinois took another big jump in the week ended April 27. A total of 2,537 new cases were reported for the week, compared with only 392 cases for the same week last year.

The increase boosted the state total to 25,524 cases, compared with 5,567 cases for the same period last year.

Cross said gamma globulin is used to prevent measles in children under five years of age. He said in some cases the preparation is used for children over 5 in order to make the disease milder and less hazardous.

Child Swallows Fuel Oil, Dies

ST. CHARLES, Ill. — Two-year old Michael Lawrence died Wednesday apparently after swallowing some fuel oil.

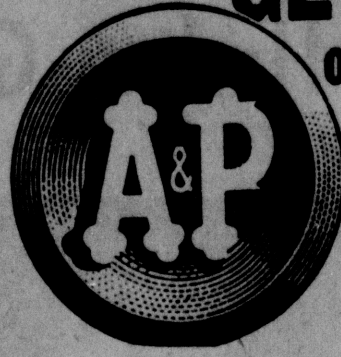

His parents rushed him to the hospital after he ran in the house from the back yard with his hands and face covered with fuel oil. The boy's father, Wilburn, said he had stored four cans of oil in the yard.

Petroleum reserves in Texas amount to more than 18,000,000 barrels, or 53.1 per cent of the national total.

HARRISBURG

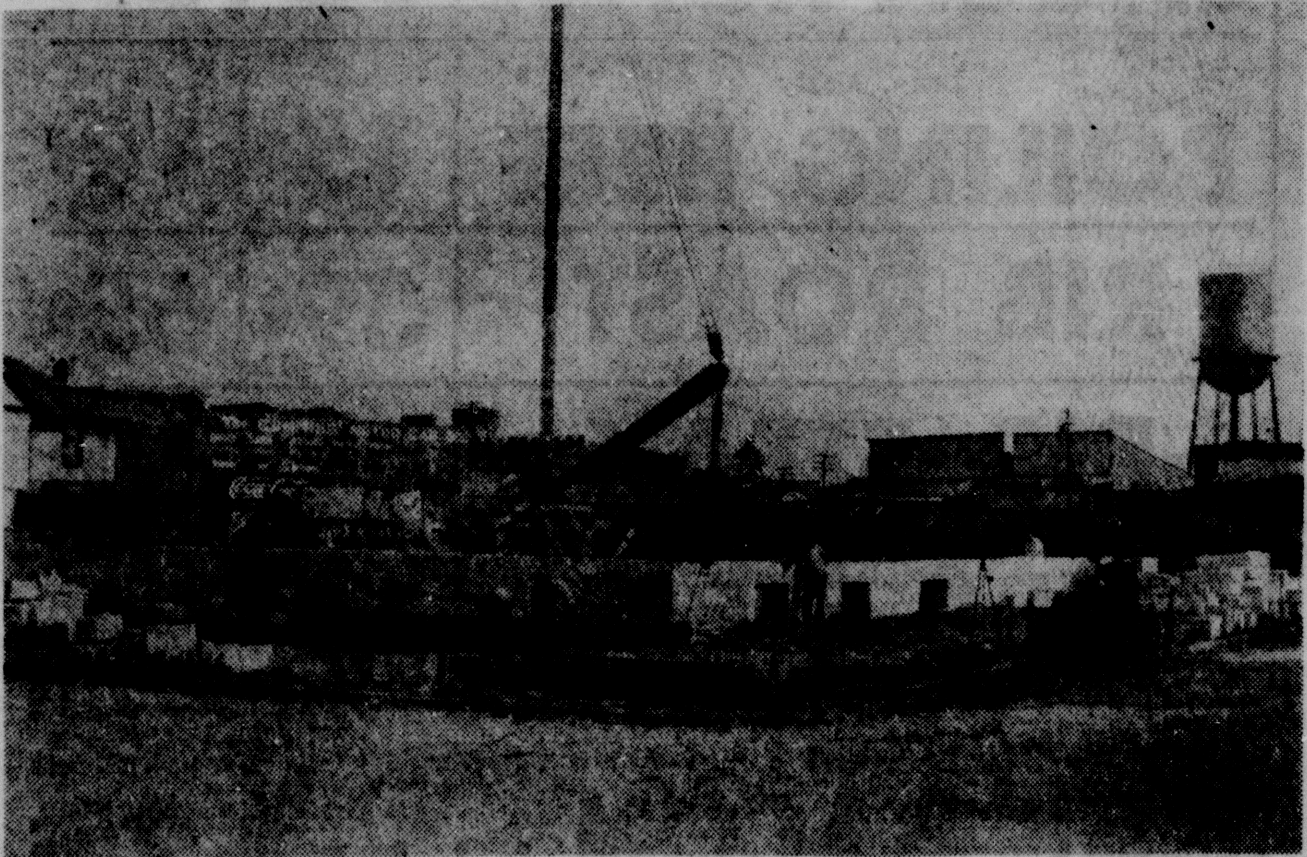

Harrisburg Post Office—Now and Then

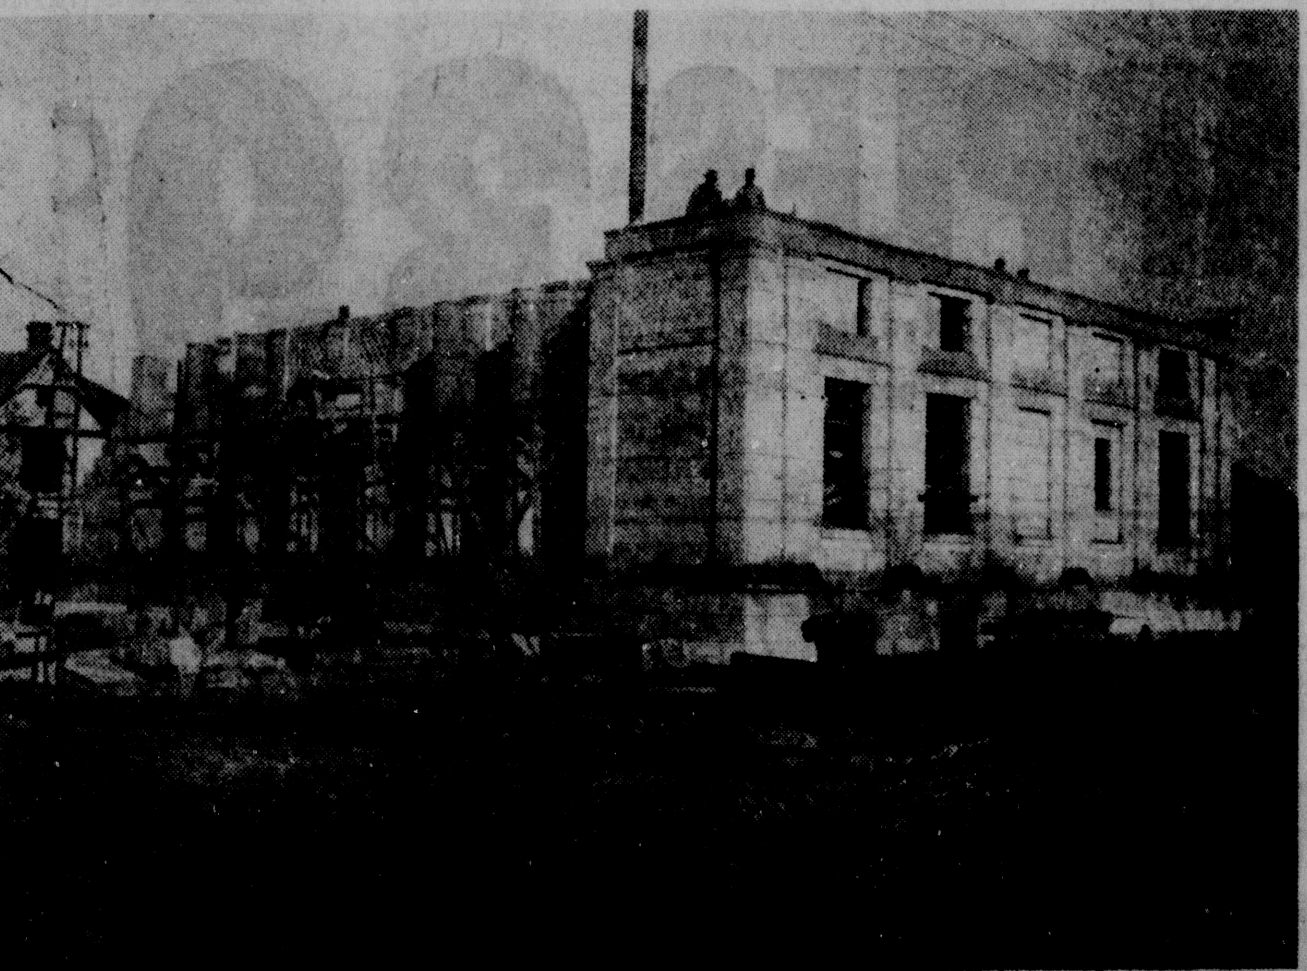

BACK IN 1912 SITE OF HARRISBURG POST OFFICE was a vacant lot. This picture, looking southeast, shows vacant lot where post office now stands. Boarded area is now occupied by Kimbro Gulf station and The Daily Register building. Buildings, left to right, home of Dr. and Mrs. G. B. Hart, Mitchell-Carnegie Library and two frame buildings where the Rude Motor company building and used car lot are now located. The building at extreme right has been identified as the Methodist church of the 1912 era.

WHEN THIS PICTURE WAS MADE August 4, 1913, construction on the post office was definitely underway. This picture is looking southwest. The building on the corner, facing east, was the florist shop, operated by Memphis Elder and his sister, the late Margaret Elder Taylor. It is the present site of the Humm and Reynolds service station. Looking down West Church street may be seen the buildings where the "Buck" Russler Plumbing shop, Joe Gidcomb Furniture store and Taylor-Rose Insurance company are now located. The old building on the right has been torn down.

THE WALLS OF THE HARRISBURG POST OFFICE were going up when this picture was made Oct. 1, 1913. In this picture, looking north and east, the water tower is a standout landmark. Starting at the left, may be seen the back of the Dr. McKee home. Next is the Cummins' Motor Car Co. building, the brick building facing Vine street and now occupied by Joe Gidcomb's used furniture store. This was before the three-story brick building, usually referred to as the Cummins building, on South Main street and facing the post office, was constructed. Two frame buildings occupied a part of the lot now the site of the Exide garage.

THE POST OFFICE BUILDING WAS beginning to take definite shape when this picture was made Dec. 1, 1913. (All four pictures courtesy the Harrisburg Post Office)

New Flag Pole Latest Improvement To Post Office; Built in 1913-14

On Friday, April 27, a new flag pole was installed at the southwest corner of the Harrisburg post office.

This is the latest improvement to Harrisburg's beautiful postal building, which was built during the years 1913-1914 and occupied during the Christmas season of 1914.

The flag pole was installed by the H. D. White Company of St. Joseph, Mich. The contractor also removed the old flag pole from the roof of the post office, but it will remain in Harrisburg as it was purchased by Leroy Barham. The new flag pole is 40 feet above the ground and set in concrete six feet deep.

The Harrisburg post office was established Feb. 28, 1856. The first post office in this area was established under the name of Bankston, Gallatin County, Illinois, April 25, 1848, with John Williamson postmaster.

The office was changed to Saline county June 30, 1853 and Mary Jones Evans was postmistress. James Butler became postmaster Sept. 13, 1853.

The first Harrisburg postmaster was Joe Robinson, appointed Feb. 28, 1856.

Other postmasters and date of appointment — John Tate, April 21, 1859; John C. Searle, April 20, 1861; James Feazel, Oct. 16, 1861; Benjamin Bruce, Jan. 9, 1863; John F. Conover, Feb. 25, 1863; Robert Mick, March 26, 1864; Monroe J. Potts, April 24, 1866; Sterne Forgy, Jan. 18, 1869; William G. Sloan, Feb. 5, 1869; William K. Burnett, Oct. 22, 1865; William K. Berry, July 11, 1867; Francis M. Pickett, July 3, 1869; Levi W. Abney, Nov. 3, 1893; Thomas S. Reynolds, May 12, 1897; John Odum, June 10, 1913; Joseph W. Davis (acting) Oct. 1, 1915; Joseph W. Davis, Oct. 20, 1915; Harker Miley (acting) Sept. 1, 1921; Harker Miley, May 11, 1922; Arthur M. Hetherington (acting) Oct. 15, 1933; Arthur M. Hetherington, April 27, 1934, who is still serving.

The records of the Federal Postal Service indicates that rural delivery service was established at Harrisburg on July 16, 1900, with three carriers at $500 per annum each. The records as of July 1, 1901, lists the carriers as Ewing B. Gaskins, Wilbur H. Ingram and Charles C. Wilgus, with Charles Irwin and Robert Stout as substitute mail carriers.

First star route service to what is now the Harrisburg post office was prior to 1848, as the records state there was a route from Equality, by Bankston to Saraville, 28 miles and back once a week, with John McLean of Maulding Mills the contractor. The date of this service isn't given.

However, the record goes on to say that another route began May 24, 1848, covering the same territory—Equality, by Bankston to Saraville—with John Smith of McLeansboro the contractor. (It is thought the Bankston referred to is the Bankston community in Brushy township and that Saraville was a country store about 11 miles west, in Williamson county).

For 21 years there was a post office in Dorrisville, being established Aug. 14, 1905 and discontinued May 15, 1926. Postmasters were General Lew Wallace, Aug. 14, 1905; Henry W. Jarrells, Dec. 2, 1907; Anna E. McCormack, Aug. 17, 1914; R. R. Randolph (acting), June 14, 1922; Ethel H. Randolph (acting) June 14, 1922; Mauree Williams (acting), Sept. 24, 1924; Sherman D. Whiteside (acting) March 7, 1925 and Sherman D. Whiteside, April 22, 1926.

In outlining the history of the U. S. Postal Service, Harrisburg Postmaster A. M. Hetherington stated that the first system of posts in the United States was legalized in 1639 by the General Court of Massachusetts. The ordinance directed that all mail brought over the seas was to be left at the home of Richard Fairbanks in Boston, who would have it transmitted onward to its destination. Fairbanks was allowed a penny for the transmission of each letter.

In 1672 Governor Lovelace of New York established a monthly post between New York and Boston, over what today is known as the Boston Post Road, U. S. Route No. 1.

Benjamin Franklin was the first employed at the post office as Postmaster A. M. Hetherington, Assistant Postmaster Byron Moore, seven regular clerks, four rural carriers, one substitute rural carrier, seven city carriers, including the parcel post carrier, and two substitute city carriers and two custodians.

The Harrisburg post office is "big business," furnishing postal service to more than 5,000 homes and business houses. There are four rural routes, serving 1,543 families. Seven city routes serve 3,355 residential families and 325 businesses.

Winds, Winds, Oh hear me far into the high, clear sky;
Winds, Winds, I, too, am part of your hungry cry.

Whirl me up to the moon, like a showering spark,
And back into the throat of a soaring lark!

Let me know the joy of each forbidden thrill,
That I may dread the less to lie for ages still.

When Land is Gone, There's No Soul to Save, Rev. Cummins Says

Minister Calls Attention to Soil Stewardship Week

Editor's Note: Sunday, May 6, will be observed as Soil Stewardship Sunday in many churches throughout the United States. The week following is Soil Stewardship Week. Soil Conservation Districts in every State will during this week, through various activities, call every citizen's attention to the responsibility of Christians for being good stewards of the soil and other natural resources so abundantly given them by our Lord.

The following article was prepared by Rev. W. L. Cummins, pastor of the First Methodist church, Harrisburg.

ON SAVING SOULS BY SAVING SOIL

By Rev. W. L. Cummins, Pastor Harrisburg Methodist Church

In the community where I grew from childhood to manhood almost everyone was religious. Most of the families belonged to and attended the churches in the community. Religion was an accepted practice of our way of life. The Lord's Day was rigidly observed as a day for sacred things only, and our activities both of work and recreation were sharply restricted, while our attention was turned to the observance of our religious practices. Our religion had to do with but one phase of our lives and its practices were confined to but one day of the week.

We associated our religion with Sunday, with churches, hymn singing, Bible reading, etc. We did not associate it with business, farming, labor and such things. We associated it with weddings, baptisms, Sunday school, church going, funerals and such matters, but we did not associate it with our work on the farm or at the mill.

Soil Thoughtlessly Wasted

I am sure we saw little if any connection between our religion and our use of the soil. Our religion was a sacred matter, all other things were secular matters and were completely divorced from religion. We did read our Bibles, but when we came to the place where it said, "The earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof," we were not impressed. The land was the property of the people. Did we not have a warranty deed recorded at the court house? God, we agreed, would hold a man accountable for certain sins of the flesh, and for his neglect of church attendance or his failure to properly observe the Sabbath. But that He might bring us to account for our use or misuse of the land did not once occur to us.

As a result of this type of thinking, a type which still persists in too many minds, we thoughtlessly wasted our land and our resources without a thought as to the moral and spiritual implications in connection with what we were doing. Religion, we felt, was a matter of saving souls. Other matters were of a secular nature and had no connection to religion.

Shift Too Slow

Today we believe the emphasis is properly shifting, but we are afraid the shift is too slow. From a religious standpoint wasted land makes all talk of saving souls a bit irrelevant. You can't save souls where the soil will not support bodies, for souls must inhabit bodies. Someone said, at a recent Save-the-Soil Clinic, "You can't save souls where there are no souls to save." He was right. Nothing is more vital to all the people today than this matter of soil-saving. No person is more blind to facts than the person, preacher or layman, who makes believe because he isn't a farmer he has no interest in soil problems. These are not exclusively farm problems. They are universal problems. They are matters of life and death and we are all involved in such issues. What then shall we do?

1. We need to confess our sins and recognize that we stand under the judgment of God for our exploitation and desecration of the holy earth.

Sins Upon Children

For some strange reason man never seems to be conscious of any moral guilt in the destruction of natural resources. This innocent attitude holds true with respect to all wild life, water, forests, etc. He needs to be reminded until he catches on that the laws of the universe are operating against him who would take from life without giving something in return. His sins will be visited upon his children and his children's children. The late George B. Shaw once said, "A gentleman is one who puts more into life than he takes out." Religion is concerned with this matter. There is a connection, a most vital one, between man's religion and the way he farms. Jeremiah, the prophet, as spokesman for God said, "I brought you to a garden land, but you came and defiled my land and made my heritage an abomination." (Jer. 2:7) Man is involved in moral guilt when he destroys what belongs to God.

2. We need to recognize the fact we hold the soil as a trust agreement only and will be held accountable for the use we make of it.

11th Commandment Suggested

Walter C. Lowdermilk suggested an eleventh commandment at this point. "Thou shalt inherit the holy earth as a faithful steward, conserving its resources and productivity from generation to generation. Thou shalt safeguard thy fields from desertion and protect thy hills from overgrazing. . . that thy descendants may have abundance forever. If any shall fail in this stewardship of the land, his fruitful fields shall become sterile, stony ground and wasting gullies and his descendants shall decrease and live in poverty or perish from off the face of the earth."

This commandment should hold a place among the other ten. "The land is mine," said God, "for ye are strangers and sojourners with me." (Lev. 25:23)

3. We need to commit ourselves, today, to better land practices and conservation measures. Someone has said, "No farmer is a good farmer unless he farms to save the soil." I would say it like this: "No farmer is a Christian farmer whose farming practices exploit the soil."

My first impression of the religious connection with the use of the soil came many years ago when an old German farmer talked to me about the Father-God and the Mother-Earth. This should not have been new to me for I grew up in Sunday School and church and was taught to pray to God as "Our Father who art in heaven." I had also heard the earth referred to as "mother-earth." But it remained for this old lover of the soil to impress me with the vital connection of these two terms; the marital union and man's responsibility to his parentage. No son is a good son whose daily practices impoverish his parents. We are the offspring of a union between the spiritual and the earthy. Our responsibility is to both parents alike. Our service to the Father is hollow mockery when our sinful practices abuse and destroy the Mother.

Should Acknowledge Guilt

In conclusion, therefore, let us humbly confess our sins and mightily resolve this day to amend our ways. As the evangelist would say, "The invitation is to 'whatsoever will.'" We are all guilty to some degree. We must acknowledge our guilt and follow the path to recovery. Let us remember that the man who saves souls (and every man should have this conviction) is a member that when the hour is gone there is no soul left to save.

The carabinieri in their funny Napoleonic hats scrutinized Mike's card. They kept staring from the card to Mike. They began to whisper to each other. Lisa and the Greek conductor's eyes met.

Mike's hand felt for the pistol in his belt. He turned and looked outside. The train was slowing. "You! Stand up! Open your bundle!"

Mike got to his feet slowly. "Come on now," the conductor moaned. "The train is full. Let's get on."

The Italian read the back of the card, looked up at Mike again, then handed the pass back and moved to the next seat forward.

The train gathered speed.

It took Mike many moments to calm down. He felt foolish and disgusted with himself. Obviously the woman and the conductor knew what they were doing. He remained rigid until the inspectors left the car.

"I want your pistol," she whispered sharply.

"Nothing doing."

"Stop speaking in English, you fool. People are staring at us. Another stupid move like that and you'll land us both in Averof. Now give it to me; we'll never get off the train with it."

Mike gritted his teeth and fussed like a small boy then reluctantly slipped the pistol to her.

In several moments she returned to the seat.

"It is on the rail bed somewhere between Amphissa and Levaidea."

Lisa snuggled into his arms suddenly and kissed his cheek. In a second he realized the affection was for the benefit of the two Italians who were doubling back through the car.

The balance of the trip was spent in utter silence.

It was four in the morning when the train pulled into Larissa Terminal in Athens.

When the train had arrived in Athens many of the passengers attempted to escape inspection by ducking out of the windows. Most of them were rounded up immediately. Mike and Lisa spent four nerve-racking hours before passing the inspection desks and, when it came, it came without incident.

Lisa led Michael down a path in the direction of a frame house, then swung away from it onto another path that ran through a grove of lemon trees. A small isolated pump house appeared in the midst of the grove.

She opened the door and entered first and lit a kerosene lamp.

A dozen books on one of the cots caught Mike's attention.

"Home" at last, Mike said, dumping the sack on the table.

Lisa stood before him, as aloof as a statue. "Lazarus who owns this farm is one of our trusted people. He is instructed to keep away from here and make no contact with you. You will report if he makes any intrusions."

"Yes, ma'am."

"A meal will be left outside the door daily after sundown. Under no other circumstances are you to leave this house."

"Anything else?"

"Turn your back," she ordered. Mike heard the rustle of silk underthings and quelled a natural inclination to peek.

"You may turn now."

In one hand Lisa held his pistol, in the other, his roll of drachmas.

She dropped them on the table. "In the future, try to be more discriminating before pulling a gun."

Mike was completely deflated now.

"When do I see Dr. Thacker?"

"As soon as he is ready to see you."

"Look, Helen or Mrs. Papadopolos or whatever your name is. I know this has all been a routine thing for you but I want to thank you."

"It isn't necessary."

"I'm afraid it is necessary. When someone does something nice I think they should accept thanks. I can tell you I'm grateful for my life, can't I?"

Lisa smiled and her voice lost some of its coldness. "We have been rude to each other. I suppose it was natural under the circumstances."

"You aren't half as cold as you'd like me to believe. I don't suppose we'll be seeing each other, so thanks again."

"I'm afraid you're not rid of me," she said. "I have been assigned to check here daily."

"Well. . . See you around."

"My name is Lisa."

"See you around, Lisa."

The long black staff car turned down Hermes Street in the direction of Anton's Dress Shop.

"Do you really think you are doing the right thing, Konrad?" Zervos asked.

"I believe so. Lisa must surely know by now that her time has run out. She will listen this time."

"I don't like it. She may run back to the Underground with the whole thing."

Heiler and Zervos had learned from questioning the villagers of Telephora that Morrison had been attempting to get to Athens with the aid of a man named Christos who was killed in the raid. Although Morrison had escaped farther into the hills, both of them were certain he had made or was trying to make contact in Athens. Everything now indicated his contact would be a group revolving around Papa-Panos, Dr. Thacker and a former Greek professor named Thanassis.

"Good afternoon, Lisa," Heiler said in a gentle voice. "Did you see your children?"

"Yes, I saw them."

MULTIPLIER IS 5.2632

The assessment multiplier for this collection year was 5.2632. This means when property was assessed on the basis followed for many years, this amount was multiplied by 5.2632 to bring the assessed valuation in line with other property in the state. For instance, if you have property assessed at $1,000, your taxes were figured on $5,263.20 to bring it within the assessment requirements of fair cash value.

Schedule of 1955 Tax Rates, Payable in 1956

Herewith is a list of tax rates for various taxing bodies of the county. To determine your rate, take the total county rate of $0.463, add the rates across the line for the township in which you live, and add your school district rate.

Note that these rates are figured by decimals, for instance the Harrisburg town rate of .095, or nine and one-half cents per $100 valuation.
